DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

1. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114 was filed in this application after a decision by the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences, but before the filing of a Notice of Appeal to the Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit or the commencement of a civil action. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114 and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the appeal has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114 and prosecution in this application has been reopened pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on August 16, 2007 has been entered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 18-19 and 21, 23, 25, 29 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Riead (US 4,461,114).

The patent to Riead, in reference to claims 18, 19, 22, and 29, shows a bobber in Fig. 1 having a main body 2 providing a buoyant force to normally maintain the bobber main body in a floating condition and a spring 64 having a spring constant that is about equal to the spring constant of the bobber in water or the total force to compress the spring with respect to the bobber main body is approximately equal to the total force to gradually submerge the bobber main body and the resiliently displaceable member 62 to allow the simultaneous submersion of the bobber main body and the displacement of the member with respect to the bobber main body so as to provide gradual resistance as disclosed in column 5, lines 1-25. Further see column 4, lines 27-36 for a discussion of the operation of the float and how it is designed to be pulled under water by a small force exerted by a fish taking the bait which would be equal to the water displacement volume of the portion of the bobber above the water level. In reference to claim 23, Riead shows a compression springs 64, 76 and another compression spring 34. In reference to claim 25, Riead shows a stop cap 56. In reference to claim 26, Riead shows a fixed stop 70 connected to a lower end of the resiliently displaceable member.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 24, 27, 30 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Riead (US 4461114).

The patent to Riead shows a fishing bobber and has been discussed above. In reference to claim 24, Riead shows compression springs 34, 76, but it would have been obvious to employ a tension spring since merely a simple substitution of one known element for another is contemplated to obtain predictable results. In reference to claim

Art Unit: 3643

27, Riead shows lamp 22 in holder or base 20. It is not clear if the socket 20 could function as a chemiluminescence capsule holder, but it would have been obvious to employ a chemiluminescent capsule holder since merely the simple substitution of one known device for another to yield predictable results is contemplated as stated in the recent Supreme Court KSR case. In reference to claim 30, Riead shows the spring 64 supported on a lower end of the bobber by resiliently displaceable member 62, but it would have been obvious to support the spring on the upper end of the bobber since merely a rearrangement in the location of parts is contemplated and the function is the same. See In re Japikse, 86 USPQ 70.

Allowable Subject Matter

6. Claim 28 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
